Protecting Your Digital Life and Your Identity, Together...

Digital Security Depends on Technology

Many companies promise "virus protection" but they have to keep finding new defenses against the latest threats and that puts you at risk. Trouble is, today it seems that almost anything can be hacked. However, there's a completely different way to protect your information, so simple and brilliant, it's almost impossible to penetrate...

Protection Where It Counts

Keystroke Guard will protect all the information you enter into your own computer, tablet or cell phone. Keystroke Guard is completely different because it gives you real-time encryption while you type.

Everything You Type, Protected...

Your username and password are the gateway to your personal, financial and health information. Keystroke Guard, the only patented security software of it's kind, provides complete protection for your devices. Now you can shop, bank, email and surf with confidence knowing your personal privacy is protected.
